

WILD ART CLUB

Dear All,

In this current climate of uncertainty, I would like to offer support to everyone who finds themselves having to occupy their children for an extended period of time at home.

I am currently working on putting together free art activities for kids on Instagram @wildartclub which will hopefully encourage children to continue being engaged & creative. Parents & children can then share pictures of their creations via the hashtag #wildartclub or via email to me, to help continue a sense of connection & community for the children.

This would be open & available to all parents & children, not just Wild Art Club members, so please feel free to let your friends know.

No special art equipment will be required, with activities using everyday household & recycling items & very basic art materials, so that everyone can join in.

If this would be of interest to you & your children, then please drop me a line at mrspratt@hotmail.co.uk & let me know.

Best wishes, Maggie Spratt.
